Long-Range European Aid Plan Modified

Seventeen Billion Dollar Commitment Will Not Be Requested Now

TO SEEK PROGRAM FOR FIFTEEN MONTHS

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—

President Truman's agreement to forego a seventeen billion dollar Marshall plan commitment centered the big foreign aid fight in Congress today on funds for the first 15 months.

The administration's surprise decision to withdraw its request for a seventeen billion dollar commitment was made at the suggestion of Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It came as Congress assembled to open its historic regular session.

Timely Stroke

All but the sternest critics of the long-range European aid program paid tribute to the GOP leader for a timely stroke which should greatly speed up action on the four-year plan. Vandenberg himself said it would have taken five times as long to consider the bill if the seventeen billion figure remained in.

Sen. Wherry (R) Neb., Senate majority whip, said that "now the crucial thing is whether the bill can pass with the six billion 800 million dollars in." This is the amount President Truman asks for the first 15 months of the program. Under the Vandenberg revision, it remains in the legislation as a commitment.

One Democratic lieutenant forecast that Congress would cut the initial 15-month figure to four and one half to five billion dollars. GOP leader Taft (R) Ohio and others in both Houses have called the president's request "too large."

Vandenberg's committee will open public hearings on the aid

New Garsson Probe Started

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6.—(INS)—A federal grand jury began a new probe today into the tangled affairs of Henry and Murray Garsson, wartime munitions makers convicted last June of bribing a congressman.

The Justice Department said the grand jury investigation will deal with the renegotiation of war-time contracts held by the Garsson brothers.

U. S. District Attorney Bernard J. Flynn explained that the inquiry is taking place in Baltimore because the renegotiation matters were handled at the nearby Edgewood (Md.) headquarters of the Army's chemical warfare service.

Declares Truman's Forty Billion Dollar Budget Proposal Far Too High

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., chairman of the house appropriations committee, declared today that the 40 billion dollar budget President Truman will submit to Congress next Monday "is too high" and said it will be cut substantially.

Taber's remarks were made in an interview as a move was weighed in the house to delay action on the Knutson bill to provide a five and a half billion dollar federal tax cut until after the legislative budget is set. Deadline for setting the estimate under the reorganization act is Feb. 15.

Taber reserved advancing any definite figure for reducing the budget until after it is received by Congress. He said he would like to see it cut in half but conceded that this is a goal that is not attainable.

A prominent Republican leader meanwhile disclosed that he favors postponing house passage of the Knutson measure pending action of the legislative budget.

School Bonds Sold Monday

Singer, Deane and Scribner, bond brokers of Pittsburgh, were the high bidders on $88,000 worth of Neshannock township school bonds Monday night, January 5, and were awarded the contract. The high bid was 101.07, which means a premium of $938. The bonds will bear 2½ per cent interest.

The $88,000 is part of the $100,000 bond issue authorized by the voters in the November 1947 election. The money from the sale of the bonds is to be used in making additions and improvements to the consolidated school.

Plans are being drawn now for the addition by the W. G. Eckles company. As soon as they are in shape, the plans will be taken to Harrisburg for approval by the Department of Public Instruction. With the bond issue and plans approved, it is hoped to advertise the bids within a reasonable time.

Truman Warned Compulsory Powers Will Not Be Given

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—President Truman was warned in advance today that his intention to ask the new session of Congress for compulsory anti-inflation powers will be opposed vigorously by GOP leaders.

Republican House and Senate chiefs pledged they never will return America to rigid government controls in peacetime, approximately 40 hours before the President is scheduled to deliver his State of the Union message in which he will renew his living cost program.

Sen. Taft of Ohio and other Republican leaders blamed soaring living costs on "lavish" European aid plans, and said Congress will limit foreign relief and cut taxes.

Brig. Gen. Graham To Be Witness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Senate food gambling investigators took steps today to force a showdown between Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham and his broker over whether the White House physician did or did not direct the operation of his speculation account.

The Ferguson subcommittee on speculation insisted that the broker, Bache & Co., disclose whatever documents it may have showing how President Truman's doctor handled his market operations. At the same time, Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., subcommittee chairman said he will call Gen. Graham as a witness—probably Thursday.

President Puts Final Touches On His Message

MESSAGE GUARDED FROM PUBLIC TODAY

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Truman put the finishing touches on his "extremely important" state of the union message to Congress today and summoned his cabinet to the White House for an official family preview.

The chief executive was to meet with his cabinet at 4 p. m. EST, to go over the message which the White House considers will be the president's most important pronouncement to Congress during 1948.

Mr. Truman will appear before a joint session of Congress at 1:30 p. m. EST, tomorrow to deliver his message. His personal appearance emphasizes the importance placed upon the message by the White House in the present critical period of increasing prices and a troubled world situation.

Delay Release

The White House, contrary to procedure in past years, will not release advances on presidential document until tomorrow morning. This is another indication of Mr. Truman's considered importance of the contents of this year's

Hunt For Former Acting Consul At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—City detectives today pressed a search for Alexander M. Galbraith, former acting British consul in Pittsburgh, who disappeared last Wednesday within a short time after he had been relieved of his post.

Possibility that he might be a victim of amnesia was expressed by friends, and by William C. Butler, who took Galbraith's office under a British order of 18 months ago which replaced all consuls who were not British subjects.

Butler said he was unable to account for the disappearance, adding that so far as he knew everything was in order in the consulate. Galbraith had been acting consul since 1942.

Eggless Day Program To Be Dropped

But Meat Conservation Program Is Believed More Needed Than Ever

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Administration save-the-food experts prepared today to follow up the junking of eggless Thursday with a tightened meat-saving program designed to have special appeal for the pennypurse housewife.

The new program, which will either replace or be added to the present meatless Tuesdays, will have an anti-inflation twist. Entirely voluntary in nature, it has no connection with the stand-by meat rationing plan which also is reported to be in preparation.

Need Meat Conservation

The food experts are reported to be seeking a selling point for the program along these lines:

Brazil To Act Against Reds

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Brazil's Chamber of Deputies is expected to pass today a measure cancelling the election mandates of government officials who are members of the Communist Party.

Government leaders pushing the bill declared that unless it is brought to a vote tomorrow emergency night sessions will be held. The bill strikes at Luis Carlos Prestes, national head of the Brazilian communist party who is a Senator from Rio de Janeiro, at 17 federal deputies, and at scores of Communist city councilmen in Rio, Sao Paulo, Recife and other cities.

Communists greeted debate on the measure with a gun-battle in Rio, and disorders elsewhere in Brazil.

Two Big Issues Are Confronting Congress-Truman

Aid To Europe And High Cost Of Living At Home Are Predominant

CONGRESS TO HEAR MESSAGE WEDNESDAY

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Republican 80th Congress reconvened today in its last regular session. The Senate and the House of Representatives met at sharp noon EST.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—

The Republican Eightieth Congress reconvenes today in a session that can "make or break" President Truman through its legislative handling of grave economic and international problems.

The president and the Republican majorities in Congress face two major issues—aid to Europe and the high cost of living at home.

The American electorate will pass judgment on both presidential and congressional handling of these problems when the voters go to the polls in November's presidential election.

Message Wednesday

Congressional action will start slowly. The president delivers in person his annual message to Congress on the State of the Union Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. EST. His message report goes to Congress Friday and his forty billion dollar budget message next Monday. After that there will be fireworks.

Here is the legislative picture as Congress reconvenes:

Foreign Aid: President asks authorization of four year Marshall plan and six billion $100 million dollars to finance it for first fifteen months, to be handled by State Department. The Republicans now favor a one year commitment of between three and a half and four billion dollars. To be directed by a bipartisan board. It looks like the GOP plan will prevail.

Ex-King Michael Reveals Threats By Communists

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager International News Service)

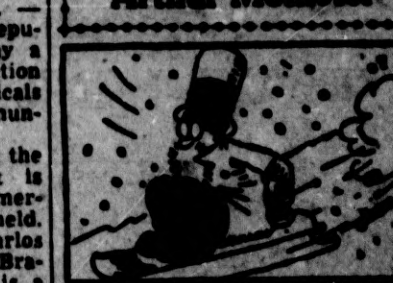

LAUSANNE, Jan. 6.—Sources close to ex-King Michael revealed today that a threat by the Communist-controlled Romanian government to throw tens of thousands of persons into jail and plunge Romania into civil war was responsible for Michael's abdication.

This was described as the form of ruthless pressure applied to the 26-year-old sensitive and impressive young man to force him to sign an act liquidating the monarchy in Romania and paving the way for establishment of a Soviet puppet state.

The information constituted the first specific revelation of reasons for Michael's sacrifice of his throne.

The disclosure was made after one member of the former monarch's entourage said, indignantly, still an unknown figure in the Communist Rumanian regime on behalf of Michael for some financial settlement.

And always it seems they come to look out the same young lady and meet any time she arrives with a pet, in summer or winter or snow. It may be a pet with a pedigree, or it may be an alley cat, but they look her up if they've lost it, seems they seem to know where she's at. So we have to find them and keep them warm, and so they have to turn them away, and today it's a dog that got strayed from home, it's not, it's a cat today.

Police Chief Robert D. Hanna today announced that two juveniles, one 13 and the other 14 years of age, had confessed to having entered 15 business places and to have attempted to enter 10 others. They were arrested by Plain-clothesmen Boyle and Thompson in the rear of Hite's service station Saturday night.

Western Pennsylvania's high-winds again were drenched with ice today as snow fell during the morning over most of the area.

Charles, the son, is a graduate of East Brook high school, and last year was named a Keystone Farmer, the highest degree conferred in the state by the Future Farmers of America.

Martha Jane, the daughter, is now a senior at East Brook high school, and active in F.H.A. work. She was one of the contestants for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Queen last summer.

While at the show they will occupy the booth of the Council on Monday, January 12, and will take part in various activities at the show. They have all expenses paid for two days at the show, and each receives a $50 war bond.

DECLARES TRUMAN'S BUDGET TOO HIGH

He served that the bill might be assured greater support if the legislative budget clearly shows that expenditures and revenues for the government in the coming fiscal year will follow the tax slash.

Will Cut Taxes

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, says congress will cut taxes but he also believes the legislature might have to wait to see what the coming budget will be before determining details of tax relief.

Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., author of the measure, predicts, however, that the bill will clear congress this month with enough Democratic support to override another expected presidential veto.

Speaker Martin (R) Mass., also expressed hope that the house would enact the bill this month.

Knutson plans to lay his bill before the policy-making GOP steering committee as soon as possible after the convening of the house today.

"Hold yourselves to 'X' dollars worth (on 'X' pounds) of meat a week and watch prices go down!" They feel that the conservation-fight inflation tie-in would have the two-fold effect of forwarding the President's announced policies and at the same time enlist widespread cooperation from consumers who are anxious to halt the inflation spiral.

They also feel that, although it is safe to drop eggless Thursdays starting January 15, Thursday meat conservation is more necessary than ever. The gradual drop in the nation's meat supply, despite present conservation efforts, makes a more aggressive program imperative, they declare.

In a normal prosperous year Americans spend more than three billion dollars annually on vacation travel alone.

to ask for power to restore food price ceilings and ration scarce commodities. Republicans now oppose restoring such wartime controls but some new powers may be given Mr. Truman later if high prices continue. President and Congress ready to extend control for another year.

Taxes: President opposed now to any general reduction of taxes but may accept increases in exemptions to give savings to lower income groups. Republicans favor sweeping tax slash, though possibly not as much as the five billion $800 million dollar cut in the Knutson bill. GOP will adjust tax slash finally to meet budget and foreign aid costs without jeopardizing a balanced budget.

National Defense: President asking universal military training bill and around ten billion dollars for national defense. Republicans are demanding Army-Navy-Air heads produce definite plan for defending nation against any aggressor.

They may wind up junking universal military training to put in their own program to make the United States impregnable through development of air power. Guided missiles and atomic weapons.

Labor: Probable Republican enactment, with Democratic aid, of an increase in the federal minimum wage act from forty to sixty-five cents an hour. Possibility of new legislation to control Pettilio and his recent ban on recorded music. Possibility of slight reforms in Taft-Hartley Act if House committee on education and labor recommends any change. One possibility is repeal of law's ban on closed shops.

Social Legislation: House passage of certain anti-lynching bill with certainty Senate filibuster will kill it. Senate passage of the 300 million dollar federal aid to states for public education but bill may die in House, due to economy.

International Affairs: Senate passage of House bill, officially authorizing the "Voice of America" radio program and other steps to "Sell Uncle Sam" to people around the world. Probable Senate action on St. Lawrence seaway act but bill may die in House due to economy.

There are two basic reasons for Republican opposition to accepting the four year Marshall plan. One is that the present Congress cannot bind the next Congress to continue the plan and any rejection of it later would be a bitter blow to American prestige abroad.

Make Europe Work

The second and more fundamental objection is the fear that a four year program would make Europe "load the job" of recovery. The Republicans feel it would create a more healthy situation in Europe of the governments and people realized they would have to "win" further American aid each year through their own achievements at home.

The message will be approximately 5,000 words in length and will require 40 minutes for delivery.

It will be broadcast and the president's delivery will be televised. The president met his budget director, James E. Webb, today for a final thorough going-over of the budget message which Mr. Truman will send to congress next Monday.

Arabs reportedly smash windows in a hospital for tubercular patients. Haganah had to use grenades and mortars before they succeeded in repelling the Arab onslaught.

Follows Bombings

The Arab dynamiting in Jerusalem followed reported nightlong bombings of railway lines between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. The rails were said to have been torn up at several points by the explosions.

British troops in Jerusalem meanwhile continued to hack their way into the debris of the Arab Semiramis hotel which was blasted yesterday by a Jewish-planted mine in search of women victims who were reported still buried alive.

So far only seven bodies have been recovered from the Semiramis hotel blast in which it is believed a score may have met death.

Social Legislation: House passage of certain anti-lynching bill with certainty Senate filibuster will kill it. Senate passage of the 300 million dollar federal aid to states for public education but bill may die in House, due to economy.

International Affairs: Senate passage of House bill, officially authorizing the "Voice of America" radio program and other steps to "Sell Uncle Sam" to people around the world. Probable Senate action on St. Lawrence seaway act but bill may die in House due to economy.

There are two basic reasons for Republican opposition to accepting the four year Marshall plan. One is that the present Congress cannot bind the next Congress to continue the plan and any rejection of it later would be a bitter blow to American prestige abroad.

Make Europe Work

The second and more fundamental objection is the fear that a four year program would make Europe "load the job" of recovery. The Republicans feel it would create a more healthy situation in Europe of the governments and people realized they would have to "win" further American aid each year through their own achievements at home.

LONG-RANGE EUROPEAN AID PLAN MODIFIED

plan Thursday, with Secretary Marshall as the first witness. Marshall, as will President Truman in his State of the Union message tomorrow, will make his testimony conform to the new approach.

Sen. Lucas (D) Ill., minority whip, said he believes Vandenberg, the president and the state department had "made a contribution to progress in enactment of the Marshall plan." Lucas held that the change would eliminate "some of the controversy the plan's opponents are looking for."

House Majority Leader Halleck (R) Ind. agreed that the revision should "speed passage of the bill."

Situation Clarified

Rep. Bloom (D) N. Y., ranking minority member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said he was glad Vandenberg had clarified the situation.

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich. though that knocking all references to the big sum of seventeen billions from the bill also would serve as an anti-inflationary step.

Vandenberg told reporters there "never was any reality" in the attempt to write a statutory figure into the legislation itself. He said the change recognizes that it is "impossible to anticipate mathematically" world conditions in four succeeding years.

But the GOP foreign policy chief made it clear that he personally supports the idea of a four-year authorization on foreign aid—without a commitment on total amount.

The introduction of bills into Christian churches in usually ascribed to Paulinus, Bishop of Nola, in Campania in 353-51, but a century later there is no evidence of their existence. That they were first made in Campania is inferred from their name—campance; hence campanile, the bell tower.

FAITH THINGS TO REMEMBER

We have just finished celebrating two great days, Thanksgiving and Christmas. For over 1900 years we have celebrated Christmas, and for over 300 years we have celebrated Thanksgiving.

Today it is a national custom for the latter to be observed throughout the United States. In commemorating this birth of our nation, let us remember that it was founded and raised on the Bible; that religion came first and business was a secondary consideration; that the laws of men were based upon the laws of God, and the Church was the first and most important organization of our community. The best that is in us, we owe to these sober, uncompromising, God-fearing New Englanders, and the farther we drift from their stern teaching and tenets, the greater is our danger of shipwreck as a Nation and individuals.

Our City fathers could do the traveling public a great favor, if they would clean the street once in awhile in front of the Federal building. Also, they might discover a bad hole on East North Street, at the corner of Apple Way.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

Departure of former King Michael from the Romania where he found himself no longer wanted aroused the interesting possibility today of a clash for precedence between his followers and those of his father, ex-King Carol.

It is characteristic for Balkan exiles to remain politically active as long as is humanly possible.

Even the Tsarist exiles in Paris remain unconstructed worshippers of the Romanovs.

Looked Upon As Interlopers

After 30 years they still look upon the Communists as interlopers and brigands and look fondly toward some nebulous day when they go trooping back to what they still regard as St. Petersburg and reoccupy their palaces on the Nevsky Prospekt.

There are a very considerable number of Romanian exiles in Paris, in Switzerland and elsewhere.

They are of varying political colors. Many left Bucharest and Constantza when the Nazis took over. Others sought haven abroad when the Communists seized power.

And others yet are leftovers from Romania's own amazing internal upsets when Carol abdicated in favor of a regency headed by Michael, then seized his own throne a second time and all in all created a turmoil which made the general atmosphere perilous for those in high positions.

Carol Loath To Give Up

In his various wanderings from Mexico City to Rio De Janeiro and to Lisbon with Mme. Magda Lupescu, who is now his wife, Carol has been loath to surrender any royal privileges.

Well-endowed with cash both from his Hohenzollern forbears and profitable investments, Carol always has been able to live in high style.

Such luxury always attracts followers, be they loyal admirers or mere sycophants. At the moment, there probably are a good many Romanians living well as Carol's supporters might easily find their positions endangered when Michael sets up his own court in exile.

For the moment, Michael's faction would seem to have the advantage. This will be increased if he marries Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma, for hers is a fine aristocratic old name while it is no secret that Carol's consort came from a family of junk dealers.

It is not a situation that is likely to result in anything more than street-corner arguments.

Should the future bring the downfall of communism and the restoration of vanished monarchies, this father-and-son rivalry might produce some spicy news indeed.

Romanian royalty has never failed in this regard.

Looking At Life

Here is something new in beauty contests, and I certainly wish we would start that kind here in the United States.

The people of New Zealand have just elected their Beauty Queen for 1948.

The winner, 21-year-old Mary Wootton, of Christchurch, will visit Canada this year as part of her award. She will also go to England, where she will have the usual screen test and she will have a complete wardrobe designed by Norman Hartnell, creator of Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown.

So far there is nothing new about the contest.

But here is the completely novel feature which I want to see adopted in this country:

The judges had been instructed to select a girl not only for beauty but also for her cultural, artistic, sporting and homemaking qualifications.

A talent for leadership was required as well as knowledge of New Zealand's history, geography and cultural traditions.

In addition, the girl had to be photogenic, have broadcasting talent and the ability to make impromptu and set speech and to meet people with charm and poise.

In other words, what the New Zealand people wanted for their queen was not just a pretty dummy, but a girl who is typical of the best in womanhood.

As a newspaperman I have had to attend dozens of these beauty contests of which we have, alas, so many in our country.

I have even acted as a judge in several of them.

I have helped to select Miss Thisandthat of different vintages and, frankly speaking, in every case I wouldn't have wanted to spend an evening with the winner, let alone make her my own personal choice of ideal womanhood.

You have probably had those contests in your community.

What counts?

A pretty pair of legs.

A nice shape.

An inviting smile.

And, above all, as many friends as possible.

Maybe I am getting too old to consider physical beauty alone as the basis of what really makes a woman beautiful.

In my much younger years, I too, fell for the very essentials that make a woman the "Miss Guepout of 1948," or what have you.

But now I want more.

I want all those things that the New Zealand folks considered as part of what had to make up the New Zealand Beauty Queen of 1948.

(Which does not mean, of course, that because I want all those things in my kind of Beauty, that particular Beauty would want me.)

I wrote the above paragraph in brackets, because my wife just peeped over my shoulder and said, "Who do you think you are, to expect all that in a woman?"

Whereupon I replied: "Well, I got you, didn't I?"

Jobs Upon A Time

Russia's Premier Josef Stalin not only sang in an Orthodox church in Tiflis, Russia, but once sang a solo in honor of the birthday of Czar Alexander III! Film Star Bette Davis once worked as an usherette in a Cape Cod theater.

But that was not the worst feature of the decree. It provided the death penalty in the event that a strike should do damage to either property or life. Leaders of the striking union would be subject to the death penalty even though they had had no direct connection with the incident.

Golden was wild. He had no sympathy with the head of the utility workers union who was threatening to call a strike. But he felt that the decree intended

Every one who is angry with his brother shall be in danger of the judgment.—Matt. 5:22.

Bible Thought

For some little time now we have been meaning to talk about a subject . . . but like a lot of things . . . unless you write 'em down, they slip from memory . . . age no doubt causes a person to become forgettable . . . but nevertheless and notwithstanding the fact . . . this particular item grows in interest the longer it is postponed. How long has it been since gasoline rationing has been in effect . . . you know, it wasn't yesterday. Well, have you noticed how many motorists are still driving around with window stickers still cluttering up windows. Almost everyday you see a sticker with an A, B or C . . . faded, yes . . . dirty, yes. It makes one think that the driver of the car is probably in the same condition . . . like maybe he wears dirty underwear.

And in a few days there will be a mad scramble for the Inspection Stations . . . everyone knows that the end of January means that a new inspection sticker must be affixed to the windshield . . . yet with all the publicity that has been given and will be given . . . and the years this practice has been in effect . . . there will be some who will wait until the last day . . . and there will be some who when the last day comes and goes will still be minus a proper inspection ticket.

Do it tomorrow . . . seems to appeal to many . . . but does tomorrow ever arrive? Those with Red Leavings say that it never does . . . and they are firmly convinced that tomorrow will not arrive and that is the reason they are so active today . . . attempting in every way to tear down the American way of life . . . and we ask you good people of this Nation . . . what Nation has a better life than the United States of America. Why do so many people sit around and let crack pots do so much to take away the Freedoms of U. S. citizens?

You think your tax bills high? Life Magazine published a picture and story about an English coal miner . . . made 168 dollars . . . the government took 60 bucks for tax purposes.

State Police Say:—

The 50 miles an hour speed limit is not a "must". The law does not demand that you drive at the maximum speed limit but, on the contrary, you must drive with full consideration of prevailing conditions of weather, road surface, traffic density, the condition of your car and other factors. Speed or driving too fast for conditions is a factor involved in the great majority of our traffic accidents. TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE—JOIN THE DRIVE TO STAY ALIVE.

try, while the government denies buyers a chance to find cheaper substitute for meat by holding up poultry prices.

The inevitable final result of the executive demand that less grain be fed to livestock must be the same as in the case of poultry—greater scarcities of meat. While there might be a brief increase in supply of half-fed stock forced on the market by feed curtailment, within a few months meat would practically disappear from the market. It is true that there would be a saving in grain; but there is little probability that the saving effected would have any effect at all in lowering grain prices, which are at all-time highs due to the fact that the government is the biggest buyer and the highest bidder in the grain market, under its huge export program.

Common sense suggests that our recent experience with meat controls should be enough to warn us against resumption. They failed miserably once, and will fail again, if attempted.

Some Shifts In Departments In City Planned

Council Moves To Make Some Change In Supervision Of Departments

Following the organization of city council for 1948-49, Monday morning, solons recessed until afternoon when a bill transferring the electric and mechanic departments to new jurisdictions was introduced, as was a resolution calling for the opening of a ballot box by Officers and Employees Retirement Board to select their representative.

The bill introduced by Director Joe Alexander provides for the transfer from the Department of Public Safety to the Department of Public Affairs (Mayor Haven), the city electrician, the electrical department and building, and all persons employed thereunder.

To Street Department

The city mechanic, all toolhouses, warehouses and automobile repair shops, together with all persons employed thereunder and therein from the Department of Public Safety to the Department of Streets and Public Improvements (Director Gibson).

Mayor John F. Haven remarked that, Director Gibson had the majority of equipment and that, three-fourths of the electric work concerned the Department of Public Affairs.

"Don't you think I have just as much equipment (Public Safety Department) as the Streets Department?" asked Director Davis who was assigned during the morning as public safety director.

He said that these departments had been in the Public Safety Department for years; and added: "I do not approve the idea of removing them now."

Mr. Davis then asked: "If they felt over-crowded why wasn't this done before?"

"We are not taking them away from you. We are putting the departments in their proper places," Mayor Haven replied.

Director Gibson said that, in time, it was proposed by the city to have a centralized place for all equipment.

"I don't see why the machine shop should be removed. I can see why the electric department is removed. If the plan is to centralize, why move it (the mechanic's department) out of my department at the present time?" Mr. Davis asked.

Has Enough To Do

The mayor said that, Director Davis' fire department and the police department, had priority on repairs at the mechanic's department.

Director Davis replied that, "on the other hand, if a street department truck broke down, and there was a rush to remove rubbish, he (Mr. Gibson) can borrow one of my garbage trucks."

The mayor told Director Davis that he had enough to handle with the fire department, the department of garbage and health bureau.

At this moment, Director Alexander said he would submit the bill. It was second by Director Gibson, and sent to committee.

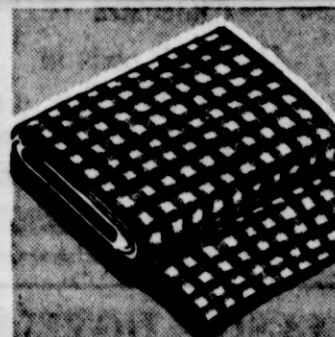

The bill was called up by the city clerk in committee, read, then upon motion of Director Alexander was ordered reported favorably. Director Gibson offered a motion to concur in the motion and upon the roll call to report the bill favorably, all members of council voted favorably.

It will now go to the printer then upon its return be called up for final passage.

Traffic Accidents Show Decrease In Month Of December

State Police Make Report Of Activities Of Local Detail During Month

State police located in New Castle made 352 patrols, or separate trips, for a distance of 7,697 miles, during the month of December in performance of their duty.

In traffic work they report 27 accidents were investigated, in which 11 persons were hurt, which is a decrease of 14 compared with December one year ago.

The major causes of the accidents were: first, speed or too fast for conditions; second, failure to keep to the right side of the road, and third, failure to yield the right-of-way.

Property damage amounting to $9,585 was sustained in the 27 accidents. The roads on which they occurred were: six accidents occurred on U. S. Route 422; three on Pennsylvania Route 58; two on U. S. Route 224, while the remainder took place on other Lawrence county highways.

Worst Accident Time
State police records show the largest number of accidents occurred between seven p. m. and nine p. m., when eight took place.

Seven occurred between three p. m. and four p. m., and the remainder occurred during other hours.

Thirty-seven persons were arrested by the state police for violation of the motor laws of the county last month.

No time of the day or night was free of accidents, with 12 accidents occurring during the daylight and 15 during the night time.

Persons of both sexes and nearly all ages were involved, either as driver, passenger or pedestrian.

One stolen car was recovered.

Many Investigations
Sixty-three complaints or requests for assistance were received at the New Castle sub-station during the month, which resulted in 19 criminal investigations. Forty-four other investigations were made.

There were 12 criminal arrests made during the month, of which five were for malicious mischief; two were for assault and battery; one was for theft of a motor car, and the remainder were divided among various criminal charges, according to the officer in charge of the local sub-station.

The members of the local sub-station are attached to the First Squadron of Troop D.

SAFETY RECORD
NEW YORK—Rear Adm. John W. Reeves, Jr., commander of the Naval Air Transport Service, said the service completed 485,802,140 passenger miles during 1947 without a passenger fatality.

Reeves said the 1947 figure made a total of 2,000,000,000 passenger miles flown by Air Transport Service four-fatality during the last six years.

MARRIAGE OF DIVORCEE'S DAUGHTER

"I am going to be married but don't know yet what type of wedding we will have. I want to be prepared for a 'white' church wedding, so please solve the following problems for me:

1. Mother is a divorcee. Dad is remarried, though he and I occasionally meet and have retained our friendship. I have never met his wife. How should my invitations be worded? May I have my father give me away? I should like to. May I invite him to my wedding without inviting his wife?

2. Who supplies flowers to decorate the church? Who for attendants, the bride and the bride's and groom's mothers? Who pays the fees of the organist, the vocalist, the minister and the sexton?

Answer: (1) Your mother, alone, should issue invitations and announcements, omitting your father's name entirely.

If there is no strained feeling between your mother and father, you may have him give you away and you may invite him to the wedding. His wife should understand her position in this situation and graciously permit him to go alone. You may invite him to your reception also; but do not be too hurt if he does not attend. Realize that his position might prove embarrassing and that he might meet strong opposition with his new wife.

2. The bridegroom supplies flowers for the bride, her attendants, his mother and the bride's mother, as well as the fee for the clergyman. The bride's family decorates the church, pays the fees of the organist, vocalist and sexton.

Question: Please tell me the proper clothes to wear at a dinner dance at a large hotel at 8 o'clock in the evening. The men will wear tuxedos. Should I wear a hat?

Answer: A dinner dress and a wrap. No hat.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., predicted Monday that the House will approve a $5,500,000,000 personal income tax cut this month with sufficient Democratic support to override another presidential veto.

The chairman of the tax-writing House ways and means committee said he thought his bill, which he has dubbed "veto-proof," will receive the support of Rep. Doughton (D) N. C., ranking committee minority member and former chairman.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(INS)—The Commerce department announced today a February coal export quota of three million 625 thousand tons, an increase of 325 thousand tons above the amount to be shipped abroad this month.

The committee said 135,000 tons of the February total have not yet been allocated.

Truman Will Give Message On Wednesday

Announce President Will Deliver Message To Joint Session In Person

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The White House announced officially that President Truman will appear before a joint session of Congress Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. (EST), to deliver his highly important "State of the Union" message.

The chief executive's message, covering critical problems at home and abroad, will be broadcast to the nation.

White House aides said the address will require approximately 60 minutes to deliver and will be unusually comprehensive.

Mr. Truman's decision to make a personal appearance before Congress was taken as an indication of the gravity with which he regards the matters on the congressional agenda—including inflation and the necessity for implementation of the Marshall plan.

Presidential Secretary Charles E. Ross, while refusing to discuss the contents of the message, observed:

"The state of the union, of course, is extremely important at this time."

Expected in Message
The message is expected to cover:

1. The urgent need for early passage of the 17 billion dollar European recovery program to aid war-torn Europe and to restore its shattered economies as a bulwark against the aggressive spread of Communism.

2. A renewal of the president's insistence that adequate executive authority to control prices and re-emphasize rationing where needed is essential if disastrous inflation is to be averted.

3. A warning against passage of any major tax reduction legislation at this time.

Against Tax Slash
The president is expected to attempt to convince the Republican-dominated Congress that passage of any such tax slash as the Knutson bill is unwise.

Mr. Truman, it is regarded as certain, will warn Congress that such legislation would meet with a prompt presidential veto.

The chief executive will renew his recommendation for early passage of a universal military training law.

The state of the union message is the first of three presidential communications Mr. Truman will place before Congress in rapid succession.

The annual economic message will go to Capitol Hill on Friday. This will deal in great detail with the inflation situation and the threat of a depression unless the high price spiral is halted.

The annual budget message will be sent to Congress next Monday. Mr. Truman's budget recommendation this year, in view of the huge outlay necessary for the European relief program, may run as high as 43 billion 500 million dollars.

Widow Of 23rd President Dies

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, 89, Dies In Her Sleep In New York City

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of America's 23rd president, died in her sleep early Monday.

The 89-year-old second wife of the man who succeeded Grover Cleveland in the White House passed away quietly.

She had been suffering from asthma.

A life-long Republican, Mrs. Harrison had taken an active part in political affairs until her age forced her to curtail her activities.

Mrs. Harrison married the president three years after his retirement from office in 1896. She was a niece of the first Mrs. Harrison who died in the White House in 1892.

In 1708 there were 194 deep-sea ships operating out of Boston and 124 operating out of New York. Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts launched a 60-ton ship in 1631 to trade with the Dutch on Long Island.

Dr. Rudolph Paul, Former Minister-President Of Thuringia State, Makes Statement

MUNICH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The annexation of the Soviet Occupation Zone of Germany under the guise of "The Seventeenth Soviet Republic" was predicted today in Munich by Dr. Rudolph Paul, who fled the eastern zone last Sept. 1.

Paul, former minister-president of Thuringia State, told newsmen that his belief is based upon a conference with Marshal Vassily P. Sokolovsky, Soviet zone commander.

The drive for annexation, Paul added, probably will be launched by a Communist-controlled organization—such as trade unions or a newly-formed "people's congress"—under the pretense that the "new" blocked efforts for German unity.

This statement is in line with earlier reports quoted by the Social Democratic party bulletin. These said that the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity Party (SED) had adopted a resolution demanding the merger of the Russian zone with the U.S.S.R. as a "seventeenth Soviet Republic" at Dresden last June.

At that time, western Germany's reaction was to label all such efforts as "high treason" and accuse the SED of being the tool of "a foreign power."

MARSHALL—MAN OF YEAR
LONDON—Secretary of State George C. Marshall was named as "Man of the Year" 1947 in the Daily Express poll of public opinion.

A note explaining that he had been summoned by the Senate appropriations committee was handed to Stassen while he was addressing the New York Young Republican club.

Be Called For Congress Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., disclosed that James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, will be called before a congressional committee to explain his ban on new recordings.

The chairman of the house labor committee said that the union leader would be asked to appear at a public hearing, which may get underway Monday.

Hartley declared: "If necessary we will subpoena Mr. Petrillo, but it is quite possible he may be willing to testify voluntarily."

ASK RATE BOOST
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Eighty-five western railroads asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for a 13.6 per cent increase in basic passenger coach fares to put them on an equal footing with eastern and southern carriers.

The roads asked that one-way coach fares be raised from 2.2 to 2.5 cents a mile. They also sought a 6 per cent increase in round-trip transcontinental coach fares and a boost in the minimum fare from 10 to 15 cents.

They did not seek an increase in one-way transcontinental coach rates, which were raised last June.

HASTE IS URGED.

Governor Warren Seen As Threat

California Governor Is Threat To Potential GOP Presidential Candidates

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — The "draft Eisenhower" drive being readied for 1948 by powerful eastern Republicans has all but obscured the fact that California's Gov. Earl Warren is a threat to all other potential GOP presidential candidates.

Warren's announcement some weeks ago that he would be a candidate was interpreted at first as a direct slap at New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who has been indicating that Warren might be induced to run as his vice presidential candidate. Political observers reported at the time that Warren was linked with Dewey, hence the announcement from Sacramento.

However, it now is known that Warren actually wants the presidential nomination and will go after it hard. He figures to profit by a stalemate between Dewey and Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft, early leaders in the nomination sweepstakes, every bit as much as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Warren's advantage would be particularly good if Eisenhower becomes lukewarm toward his backers when he takes over as head of Columbia University. Such an attitude on Eisenhower's part is a possibility, though not a probability.

Warren can command the big California delegation at Philadelphia when the Republicans nominate. He also will bring with him Washington, Oregon and Colorado, and may have several other Rocky Mountain states as well.

Warren's backers claim that the friendly California has the greatest popular appeal of any Republican presidential aspirant — with the possible exception of General Eisenhower.

Fight Rent Control
The National Association of Real Estate Boards has launched what appears to be an all-out campaign to prevent extension of rent control.

NAREB's high-gear publicity mill in Washington is flooding editors with news releases discounting any and all arguments for continuation of governmental authority over rents, which expires early next year.

Two releases issued the same day attack Senate proposals to subsidize property owners along with extended rent control, and declared that federal public housing cannot supply low-rent accommodations as cheaply as private industry.

NAREB charged that the issue is "maintenance of unconstitutional bureaucratic controls over property," and described alleged "sordid wage, fraud, payroll padding in the Federal Public Housing Authority."

But, after the last charge is hurled, Congress will extend, and maybe stiffen rent control, according to present indications. Leaders including Senator Taft are agreed on that point of President Truman's controversial 10-point program to fight inflation.

Conversion
President Truman is credited in Washington inside circles with having brought about the political "conversion" of the capital's No. 1 unofficial hostess—the very, very rich Mrs. George Mesta.

Mrs. Mesta, who inherited Oklahoma oil and eastern steel millions, was a rampant Republican when she began her career as a thrower of super-parties in Washington a good many years ago.

However, Mrs. Mesta encountered the Trumans when the president was a senator from Missouri, was impressed not only with the social charm but with the political philosophy of HST and his wife, and changed her views.

Mrs. Mesta is now not only a good Democrat, but a substantial contributor to the party coffers. She is already hard at work on the build-up for the president's campaign to succeed himself.

Her efforts have been rewarded by her appointment as "supervisor" of arrangements for the $100-a-plate Jackson Day dinner, annual top turnout of well-heeled Democrats.

Perle Mesta is believed to be the first feminine ex-Republican to be thus honored.

MONOGRAMS

Question: In monogramming linens, silver, coasters, etc., should a married woman have the family initials thereon, her own three initials or her husband's three initials?

Answer: If the wife's maiden name was Helen Brown and she married John Black and if she wishes to use all three initials she would correctly use H. B. B. If she wishes to use only one initial, it would then, correctly, be the initial of her husband's surname, B. Never would she correctly use her husband's three initials.

Question: There were three sons, Sr. Jr., and The. Senior died and the wife is still living. Does "Jr." remain so or does he become "Sr." and does "3rd" become Jr. And what of the widow?

Answer: When John Smith, Sr., dies, John Smith, Jr., should drop that designation. It is also not proper for a man to call himself "John Smith III" if either John Smith or John Smith, Jr., has died. When a widow's son who has the same name as his late father marries, the widow may have "Sr." added to her name to avoid confusion with her daughter-in-law.

Question: About a month ago I met a young man through a close friend. I've gone out with him in a group a number of times; and although I know he likes me, I have never had a date with him. I think perhaps it is lack of money on his part as he has just recently started to work. Do you think I might invite him over to my house for a Sunday afternoon and evening or do you think he might consider me aggressive?

Answer: If you will give a party for a group of friends, you may invite him; otherwise, you had better wait until he calls you for a date. It would be obvious pursuit if you invite him alone to spend the afternoon and evening at your home.

Present your problems to Miss Marrel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Ben Hogan is 2000 bucks richer today for knowing how to rip a golf course wide open.

The diminutive Irishman from Dublin, Tex., who now cavorts out of Hershey, Pa., knocked off the 22nd annual Los Angeles open yesterday by defeating a field of international stars at the Riviera Country club with a total of 275 strokes.

He sizzled across the final 18 holes of the fog-shrouded 7000-yard Riviera layout with a 3-under-par 67 to notch a four-stroke lead over his closest competitor.

By carding a 69-70-70-67 for the gruelling 72-hole route, Hogan won his second L. A. open title in a row. He also won the classic in 1942.

INSTALLATION IS UNDER WAY

Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania has just completed the expansion of the switchboards in the New Castle central office to provide working positions for ten more operators. It was announced today by Nathan N. Jaquish, local manager of the company.

This project, finished at a cost of $93,400, will make it possible for the company to install telephones for the great majority of those on its waiting list, within the next few weeks, and will provide for a small amount of future growth, Mr. Jaquish said.

"However," he added, "a few of those who have applied for telephones are located in places where there are no available cable and wire lines to connect them with the central office. We are working as rapidly as possible to install new lines, but there is a very serious shortage of cable at this time and the filling of these applications may have to be delayed for several months. We have just spent $14,000 on new lines, but more construction remains to be done."

Between January 1, 1946, and December 1, 1947, the company removed 2,356 names from its waiting list in the New Castle area, Mr. Jaquish said. However, during the same period 2,357 new applications were received, so that actually the waiting list increased by one in that period, despite the large number of new installations.

Of this country's 14,300,000 centrally heated dwelling units, 10,900,000 are heated by coal and 373,000 by wood. A significant proportion of those heated by gas and oil are in California and the oil and natural gas regions of the southwest.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Dane Clark, who came from the Broadway stage, intends to devote three months of each year to the theatre from now on.

That's because he had such a wonderful time playing the circuit in 1947.

Back at work in "Moonrise," Frank Borzage's new picture at Republic, Dane was enthusiastic about his return to the stage.

Did Four Plays
"In three months I did four plays I always wanted to do," he told me. "I played in 'Of Mice and Men' at Laguna Beach, 'The Front Gate' at the Provincetown drama festival, 'One Sunday Afternoon' at the Cape theatre and 'Golden Boy' at Detroit."

"Of Mice and Men," which also had Lon Chaney in the cast, met with such enthusiastic response that I had an offer to take it out on the road, and I didn't have the time."

Dane is on his first loan-out from Warner's. He doesn't know what they have planned for him when he finishes the Borzage epic.

Chair Was Wired

When I dropped in on the set of "This is the Moment" at 20th Century-Fox, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., was sitting in his dressing room. Betty Grable stood in the doorway and cameraman Leon Shamroy was lounging on the couch.

Doug said to me: "Do you want to see something peculiar about my face? Just sit in that chair over there and look."

I sat in the chair and looked. Suddenly it felt like I was sitting on a thousand pins and needles. Doug roared with laughter as I jumped. He had an electric gadget wired to the chair.

"Does it hurt much?" he asked. "Not much," I said.

"Let me try it," said Betty. "No Long Underwear."

So Betty sat down in the chair. A moment later she jumped up with a stupendous "ouch!"

"Darn you, Doug, and darn you too, John, I thought you said it didn't hurt much," said Betty.

"I didn't think it hurt much," I said.

"Well," said Betty, "you must be wearing long woolen winter underwear and, believe me, I'm not."

Ask Rep. Lane To Provide Further
Monopoly Evidence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Justice Department asked Rep. Lane (D) Mass., Monday to provide further information to implement his charges that a "price-fixing monopoly" is responsible for the New England fuel shortage.

Peyton Ford, assistant to the attorney general, informed Lane that at present the department has no information "concerning any monopoly over the distribution of fuel in the New England states."

Lane recently called on the Justice Department to investigate charges that the production and transportation of fuel oil and coal "involve tremendously vast and complex problems and interlocking influences." He added:

"I should be very pleased if you would supply me with additional information indicating the basis of your belief that an illegal monopoly exists in the fuel industry."

Four of the first 18 games played between Notre Dame and Southern California were decided by points after touchdown. Two other games were won by field goals.

HANDS DEMAND EXTRA CARE IN COLD WEATHER

The smoothest hands can soon become red and chapped if not given a little extra attention when winter winds blow.

During cold weather hands need protection. Wearing gloves or mittens when outdoors is one of the best ways to help keep hands smooth and soft. Another idea is to use a super-fatted lanolin soap. Lanolin is the fact obtained from wool and is especially softening to the skin. It is doubly valuable if the water is hard.

Drying thorough after washing is a must if hands are to be at their best. A bottle of hand lotion on the bathroom or kitchen shelf will serve as a reminder to apply the lotion after the hands are dry. Remember to use the lotion on chapped legs and ankles, too.

Water of extreme temperatures, very hot or very cold, are to be avoided as much as possible. If you must put your hands in sudsy water, why not wear rubber gloves? Perhaps a mild soap would do just as well as a strong one. Dish mops protect the hands.

Fingernails are especially brittle in cold weather so never use them in place of tools to do a job. Use an opener to pry off lids and scissors to loosen hard knots. If the cuticle is dry and rough, rub it with olive oil and use an ointment when you go to bed. Wear a pair of cotton gloves to protect the bed covers from the oil.

WATCH BENS' EATING WHEN COLD WAVE HITS

Keep a weather eye on feed consumption, and winter slumps in the poultry flock may be averted.

Housing, health and weather conditions alone or in combination may affect feed consumption, but even with control of these factors attention must be given to adequate feeding management.

The American breeds will consume, on the average, 25 to 30 pounds of feed per 100 birds daily.

Leghorns will eat 20 to 30 pounds daily for a like number of fowls.

When body weight is satisfactory and production about 50 per cent, equal amounts of grain and mash may be adequate for production and body weight maintenance.

When production goes above this point, this condition may not prevail. The feeder, therefore, must know the proportionate amounts being consumed and, by judicious handling of these feed mixtures, provide the feed intake which will give satisfactory results.

Appetite can be stimulated and the effect of environmental changes modified by juggling the grain and mash intake to meet requirements. When production slumps occur, they may often be due to lack of mash consumption rather than low grain consumption, because the mash contains more of the material required to produce eggs.

In cold weather, heavy grain feeding at night helps the fowls during the period spent on roosts. Several light feedings of grain scattered in the litter may be helpful in extremes of weather when the fowls in cold houses are inclined to clump in corners or on roosts during the daytime.

Auxiliary feeding helps, too. A hot mash may stimulate activity. Judicious use of artificial lights maintains a longer feeding day.

Keep feed consumption at a normal rate, meeting the fowl's requirements and during cold weather when slumps have occurred, get as much feed into the fowls as they will reasonably take. After the cold wave is spent, the fowls will rapidly return to normal production if they have not been too seriously affected in health during the period of the slump.

Reject Proposals For Division Of Jap War Materials

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The State Department revealed Monday that the Far Eastern Commission has rejected numerous American proposals for division of Japanese war industry materials as reparations for the Allied powers.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White said that he understood that the Japanese had presented an agreement on the division of reparations by its use of the veto in the FEC.

The department's statement was inspired by demands of Sen. Knowland (R) Cal. for information on whether any secret Big Three agreement exists whereby Russia is obtaining dismantled Japanese war industries.

Asked at a news conference about Knowland's inquiry, White read a formal prepared statement in which the department said it could "state categorically that the United States has made no secret agreements or commitments."

GONDOLAS IN PERIL
ROME—The gasoline age is catching up with Venice's gondoliers.

Four hundred licensed members of their guild say Venice dispatches, have petitioned the city administration that motorboats and speed boats be barred from the Grand Canal to "protect the lives of tourists," spare the foundations of historic buildings and safeguard "the traditional prestige of the gondoliers."

The wash from the motorized craft, the gondoliers said, threatens the foundations of the city's historic buildings.

Tax Hike Possible For 1948 Budget

"Floating Balance" At Start Of Year Down To $197,000—May Mean Higher Levy

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

A survey of the financial situation in the county seems to indicate the possibility of an increase in tax levies for 1948. This is not to say that such a step is inevitable, but it does mean that there is a possibility of it.

At the end of each year the county has to have sufficient of a floating balance to finance the county activities until taxes begin coming in, in July.

Some years ago it was common to see a balance of $500,000 and over on hand at the end of the year. At the beginning of 1946 the balance on hand was about $247,000. This year it is down to $197,000, roughly. If the monthly expenses for 1948 were no more on the average than 1947 the $197,000 would come within a few thousand dollars of being sufficient. But the cost of county government will probably be up this year as compared to 1947 when the average monthly expenditures from the county were around $35,000. In November they were $45,527.77 and in October they were $39,507.94.

Materials for 1948 will be no cheaper than they were in 1947. There are a number of fairly large expenditures that will be made. The retirement plan will probably take over $30,000. The memorial that on the court house lawn will take about $25,000. There are salary increases to elected officials, provided for by the General Assembly which will add at least $5000 to the salary bill. Whether or not the county salary board will raise salaries to compare is not known, but if they do this will add another substantial piece to the expenditures.

One source of revenue that has been helpful in the past six years is the sale of property held by the county for delinquent taxes. This source is rapidly drying up due to the fact that most of the properties worth anything have been sold. This fact will also affect school budgets throughout the county.

The present county levy is 4 1/4 mills of which 3 1/4 are for general purposes and one is for the institutional district. A one mill increase in the general levy would mean something over $50,000 in revenue.

PROTHONOTARY'S RECEIPTS
During the year 1947 Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar handled $70,807.28 through his office. This amount was not all income to the county as considerable of it represented cash bail. Fees of all kinds which were taken in totaled $35,079.48. This included $30,071.83 which was fines and costs and $1219.91 commonwealth fees.

BOARD LOOKS GOOD
Just as an observation, we believe the new board of county commissioners should be a good one. It is composed of Harvey B. Bush, a business man of years of experience; Joseph W. Gilmore, a man who knows the problems of the rural districts; and Joseph F. Travara, who has had eight years' experience in the commissioners' office. All three have expressed their confidence they can work together as a three-man team.

Stassen Would Rewrite Charter Of United Nations

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, proposed that the United States initiate the calling of a major United Nations convention in the year 1950 for the purpose of re-writing the charter and strengthening the U.N.

The former Minnesota governor made his proposal in an address before the New York Young Republican club—his first speech of 1948.

Calling of a U.N. convention such as he advocates can be done under the present charter without a veto, Stassen declared. He went on:

"Definitely the United Nations requires a new voting method to end the single power veto, new means of developing its own police force, new steps toward the rule of law in special problems and in human rights on a world-wide level, in the place of the domination of men or of absolute sovereign states."

"Certainly atomic energy must be inspected and controlled on a world-wide scope."

Convention Necessary

Stassen said that it is "necessary" and "essential" that such a U.N. convention be summoned. It would, he asserted, set a constructive goal and emphasize the ultimate objectives of peace and progress and freedom of mankind.

"It will brighten the hopes of people everywhere," said Stassen. The presidential aspirant emphasized that he did not want to minimize the interim steps between now and this 1950 target.

"We must demonstrate," Stassen declared, "the continued success of our free economy in America with its modern people's capitalism, its high production and its excellent distribution."

"This requires a network of inter-related measures of limited powers in government, of curbs on excessive credit to decrease inflationary measures, of supervision of exports to avoid too great an impact of world-wide shortages, of limiting of inventories to prevent hoarding of economy in the civilian activities of the government, and of a variable federal fiscal program—all to check booms and avoid depression busts."

"Supplementary action on the housing and health and education shortcomings is also indicated."

TRIED TO PREVENT HAIL
In many European countries great amounts of money were spent in the early years of this century for hail cannon to prevent hail. The mortar-like cannon discharged a whirling ring of smoke, but no projectile, and, of course, was entirely worthless.

The total value of farm land, buildings, machinery and livestock in the United States was about $41 million in 1940.

Rev. Owen Shields Reports On Youth Conference Monday

Methodist Ministers Will Hold Retreat Tuesday At Hendersonville Methodist Church

Highlights of the great youth conference of the Methodist church which attracted 10,000 Methodist youth to Cleveland last week was the theme of a timely address given Monday at the Y. M. C. A. by Rev. Owen Shields, pastor of Croton Methodist church, at the monthly meeting of the Methodist ministers of the Grove City district.

Rev. Shields headed a delegation of 33 from the Grove City district who were in attendance at the conference, which was addressed by topnotch Methodist leaders, including Dr. E. Stanley Jones, former missionary to India. The cost of the great conference was estimated at over $1,000,000.

The keynote of the convention was sounded by Dr. Harold Case of Pasadena, Calif., in which he pictured Methodist youth at work for God. Discussion groups were held throughout the conference. The most solemn of all the sessions was the watch night service held Wednesday evening, when some 10,300 partook of communion together. Of the council of bishops of the Methodist church, some 23 were present at the parley. A similar conference is planned in 10 years.

Announcement was made of the Methodist pastors' retreat to be held in the Hendersonville Methodist church today and continuing throughout the day. The theme of the retreat will be "The Minister in His Personal Life and Public Relations".

Rev. George R. D. Braun told further of the survey which will be conducted Sunday in the city. He announced that Dr. Fred Shippey will speak next Sunday evening in a union service in the Highland U. P. church.

Announcement was made of a sub-district cabinet meeting to be held at Epworth Methodist church next Thursday evening. Rev. J. P. Sulmonetti conducted the business session.

The price of bituminous coal at the mine varies directly in proportion to the labor cost per ton, which approximates .60 per cent of the total cost of producing coal in 1946, according to the Bituminous Coal Institute.

The average American used an estimated 18 quarts of ice cream in 1947 which was lower than the record 20.5 quarts in 1946.

The action came after similar announcements from New York and Philadelphia. The association said it was taken because most restaurants failed to comply to the letter with President Truman's food conservation program.

Menus in the hotels will include the two items daily, but will have a note asking the diner to keep the conservation program in mind when ordering.

The increasing mechanization of bituminous coal mining has brought with it a steady decline in man-hours required to produce a ton of coal. In 1906 it took 2.56 man-hours per ton, but in 1946 it was 1.22 man-hours per ton.

New Rector Of Trinity Episcopal Church Sees Note Of Optimism In Future

DARK PERIODS OF PAST CITED

"If everyone in America will demonstrate by thought, word, and deed, not how little but how much they can do to keep America free and the world from chaos, then there is little to worry about for the future," Rev. Ralph E. Hovencamp told New Castle Rotary club members at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castle-ton Monday.

"If we live up to the principles which have saved us in the days which have past, it will bring us to days of bright sunshine and the world will be as it ought to be," Father Hovencamp stated in conclusion.

He pointed out, the fact that everyone thought in various crisis in the past that "this was the end," citing the defeat of the Athenians at Peloponnesias, the fall of the Roman empire, the Thirty Years War, and other dark periods, but that the world had bounced back with renewed vigor and hope.

Just as new life is stirring under the ground during the dark days of winter, so does hope life throughout the world have a prospect of something better, Father Hovencamp said, expressing the belief that God will lead us on to a good end.

The club has sponsored a scholarship for a nurse now in training at the Jameson Memorial hospital, it was announced and will assist in defraying the expense of her nurses education.

66 MILLION DOLLARS MORE!

That's what we will spend this year to expand Telephone Facilities in Pennsylvania

During 1948 we will start construction of 20 new central office buildings—

... complete 12 of these buildings and install complex dial equipment in them—

... make additions to 10 other of our buildings and install central office equipment in them—

... put great quantities of additional equipment in other central offices, enlarging, all told, 342—

... add 600,000 miles of wire to the vast network that extends over and under the highways and byways of Pennsylvania—

AND INSTALL, CONNECT, AND INTERCONNECT MORE THAN 200,000 ADDITIONAL TELEPHONES!

By the end of the first three post-war years, we will have placed in service close to three-quarters of a million telephones.

That's more than all the telephones now serving the City of Philadelphia.

Demand for telephone service continues to shatter all records, upset all calculations, burden all present facilities. There is no sign of a let-up.

Many of our customers need and want types of services other than what they now have.

But our first responsibility must be to provide telephone service for those who have none.

In 1949—and the next year, and the next, and the next—more and more millions of dollars must be invested in telephone buildings and equipment to meet the needs of the people of Pennsylvania.

We will continue to push forward until we reach our goal—the finest possible telephone service for all who want it, when and where they want it.

Where do the dollars for telephone expansion come from?

They are not the dollars we take in for providing telephone service, for these are the dollars that run the telephone business.

The dollars that build the telephone business are the dollars with which telephone securities are bought... the dollars saved and invested by school teachers, widows, farmers, business men, telephone men and women, and other everyday people in all walks of life.

We must pay for the use of these building dollars. Those who supply them expect us to keep them safe and to earn enough to keep them productive.

Thompson Has Been Buying And Selling Furs 55 Years

Most residents after being engaged in the same business for more than half a century are ready to take down their shingle and call it a day but not for W. H. Thompson Taylor street, who has been buying and selling furs for the past 55 years.

Mr. Thompson, who will be 75 years of age on February 20, 1948, followed in the footsteps of an older brother in Waynesburg, Green County, in 1892 and about eight years later, moved to Jefferson, Pa., where he remained until 1921. In that year he moved his business to New Castle, where he has been operating ever since, never having missed a year in business.

4,000 Pelts This Year

The only fur dealer in the city, Mr. Thompson purchases on the average of two to four thousand hides and furs a year.

If the furs continue to come in this year as they have, around 4,000 furs will have been handled when the season comes to a close next spring.

The most of the business is confined to buying opossum, muskrat, mink, coon, weasel, beaver, fox, skunk, coyote and at times other. Most of the furs are from animals caught here in Lawrence county, with the exception of a few brought in from West Virginia.

The lowly skunk, which formerly brought a high price is almost extinct as far as dealing in the fur of the animal is concerned. Very few skunk furs are brought in by the trappers.

The furs that are bought here, are sold to an Ohio firm, which in turn sell them to large factories, who manufacture them into coats and other wearing apparel.

According to some evidence found by anthropologists, the suppression of head-hunting leads to a "decline in enterprise and zest for life, and hampers a deterioration of the population" in the more primitive Melanesian tribes.

Plan For Tax On Juke Boxes

Tax On Pin Ball Machines Also
To Be Increased, Council
Move Indicates

City tax on pin ball machines will be increased from $10 annually to probably $25, according to Mayor John F. Haven, who asked Solicitor Robert White yesterday afternoon to draft a measure raising the tax and also placing a tax on juke boxes. In fact, on all coin receiving machines except those federally owned or used by utilities.

He said police had received many complaints of young persons playing the pin ball machines in cutting districts of the city, and the complaints caused police trouble. The Mayor also asked Mr. White to make juke boxes taxable, and he inferred that an annual tax of $25 would be placed on every pin ball and juke box machine.

Director James Gibson said that playing of juke boxes late at night caused complaints from persons living in apartments over places where the juke boxes were played. Solicitor White said he would prepare the ordinance.

A proposed coal research project is expected to develop machines which will continuously mine and load coal in underground mining. Coal, land and railroad companies have pledged financial support to the planned program.

Reversal Upheld By Supreme Court In Buffalo Trial

Lower Court's Reversal Of Conviction In Di Re Gas Coupons Case, Is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Supreme Court in a 7 to 2 decision ruled Monday that a man does not lose his constitutional immunity against search without a warrant because he is traveling in an automobile suspected of carrying contraband.

The high court sustained a lower court reversal of the conviction of Michael Di Re of Buffalo, N. Y., for possessing counterfeit gasoline ration coupons.

Justice Jackson, speaking for the majority, declared:

"The forefathers, after consulting the lessons of history, designed our constitution to place obstacles in the way of a too permeating police surveillance which they seemed to think was a greater danger to a free people than the escape of some criminals from punishment."

Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Black dissented without written opinion from the majority view.

Di Re was arrested and searched after an OPA investigator and a detective from the Buffalo police department trailed a car in which an informer had said counterfeit coupons were being passed.

The found the informer, Di Re and a third man in the car. All three were taken into custody. "Fished" for weapons and taken to the police station.

Di Re was ordered by the police to empty his pockets and several coupons were discovered. Two hours later after questioning, he was booked, thoroughly searched, and one hundred coupons were found in an envelope hidden between his shirt and underwear.

The lower federal courts reversed Di Re's conviction on the ground it was based on evidence procured illegally by the police.

The federal government appealed.

ed to the high court claiming the search was legal as part of a lawful arrest and as part of the search of a vehicle "reasonable believed to be carrying contraband."

Jackson said, however, that "we are not convinced that a person, by mere presence in a suspected car, loses immunities from search of his person to which he would otherwise be entitled."

As for the lawfulness of the arrest, Jackson pointed out it was admitted that at the time of the arrest the police had no information implicating Di Re and no information that he possessed coupons except his presence in the car.

He commented that "presumptions of guilt are not lightly to be indulged from mere meetings."

Made No Protest
Jackson noted that the government argued that the officers could infer probable cause for arrest from the fact that Di Re made no attempt to protest his arrest or assert his innocence. The jurist observed:

"The courts will hardly penalize failure to display a spirit of resistance or to hold futile debates on legal issues in the public highway with an officer of the law. It is likely to end in fruitless and unseemingly controversy in a public street, if not in an additional charge of resisting an officer."

Jackson concluded in reply to the government's contention that the fruits of the search were proof that the officers had reason to make it that "a search is not to be legal by what it turns up."

Social Security Data Kept Strictly Secret

Everyone tells you not to rush blindly into marriage, don't they? That was the reason given by an unidentified youth when he attempted to check at the social security office to find out whether his girl friend was earning enough to get married on. The young chap stalked out of the office in a towering rage when he discovered that, like the daisies, the Social Security Administration won't tell.

It was not a case of official unromanticism, according to Myron Milbourn, manager of the administration office at 306 Neshannock avenue. In fact, he hopes the wedding is still on. But the hard fact is that such matters are treated as confidential by the government agency. Information in their files can be used only to administer the country's Social Security program. Cities Rank High
In Police Service

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's metropolitan areas, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and communities with populations of more than 25,000, have greater police protection than comparable municipalities of the nation as a whole.

The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association reports that Pittsburgh and Philadelphia employ an average of 2.44 police for every 1000 citizens compared with the national average of 2.23 per 1000 population for cities of over 250,000 persons.

The 28 Pennsylvania cities with more than 25,000 residents employ an average of 1.89 police for every 1000 persons compared with a national average of 1.94, the association claimed.

In all other local government, the protection ratio was slightly lower than that nationwide average, it added.

Air Travel Best Program For Sick

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Modern air travel should no longer make people sick, but if they are already ill, the airplane probably is the best transportation for the patient.

This was pointed out Monday in Cleveland by Dr. Jan H. Tillich, of Rochester, Minn., in an address on "aviation medicine" before the 8th Congress on Industrial Health of the American Medical Association.

Citing the experience of World War II in transporting by air many thousands of sick and wounded, the Mayo Clinic physician said:

"The great advances in oxygen equipment and pressurization of planes, improved ventilation and heating have made possible the transportation by plane of the sick patient with safety and, in many instances, with less physical strain on the patient than by other means of transportation."

Blames Parking
For Many Accidents

Expert Makes Report Of Analysis Of Auto Accident In Cities Of United States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Parking is to blame for a substantial part of all automobile accidents. Parking at an angle to a curb causes many more traffic accidents than parallel parking.

Prohibiting parking in congested areas during rush hours generally results in a large reduction of accidents—and a marked increase in traffic volume and speed.

These findings by Wilbur S. Smith, technical adviser of the Eno Foundation, are reported in the Law Enforcement Bulletin of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Eno Foundation specializes in the study and analysis of traffic problems.

Smith made an extensive study of the relationship of parking to traffic safety in cities and rural areas. His findings were originally published in the Traffic Quarterly.

Causes Congestion
"Curb parking is expensive beyond computation and contributed more than any other one factor to traffic congestion," Smith says. "It is a traffic maxim that any obstacle to traffic movement creates congestion and it is equally true that congestion causes accidents."

Surveys indicate that approximately 17 percent of city accidents and 10 percent of rural accidents involve vehicles which are parked, maneuvering into or from a parked position, or are stopped in traffic.

Five percent of pedestrians killed in cities and six percent of those killed in rural areas entered the roadway from behind parked cars.

Smith says the indirect influence of angle parking on accidents is greater than that of parallel parking. He says drivers leaving angle parking places are inclined to move their cars blindly into the traffic stream, thereby forcing moving cars to swerve.

Traffic capacity of streets on which parking is not allowed in Washington, D. C., has increased 15 percent by adding "no stopping" regulations during rush hours. Accidents were virtually eliminated over a four-block area of New Haven, Conn., by prohibiting parking during peak hours of the afternoon.

The Christian church is now believed to exist in every capital city in the world with but three exceptions: Lhasa, Tibet; Mecca, Arabia; and Kabul, Afghanistan.

The 1940 labor force of 54.4 million in the United States was approximately four times that of 1850, and 50 per cent larger than 1910.

The modern overfire air jet, a smoke abatement device, is now installed in more than 5,000 stationary power plants and 2,000 railroad steam locomotives.

The output of the U. S. food manufacturing industry has quadrupled since 1899.

The Middle Ages in Europe are usually designated as the period from the downfall of Rome, about 476, to the transition into the modern age, variously reckoned as early as 1450 and as late as 1520.

Hero Of Late War
To Speak Thursday

Major Paul Cyr Will Be Heard By Executives Club Thursday
Evening In Castleton

Maj. Paul Cyr

Major Paul Cyr, young American spy and hero of World War II, will give members of the Executives club and their wives a thrill on Thursday evening when he will relate some of his most exciting adventures during the war, at the monthly dinner meeting of the club, in The Castleton.

Major Cyr, who fought and worked for six months with the French Maquis, was the first American to be dropped behind the enemy lines in France. His exploits and the assistance he gave to General Patton make him one of the outstanding heroes of the war. He is also honored for his work with Chinese guerrillas in Japanese-held territory.

He served with General Wild Bill Donovan's Office of Strategic Services, earning the Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre, D. S. C. and Bronze Star.

Complete New Line Of 'Job-Rated'
Trucks With 248 Basic Chassis
Models Announced

Announcement of a completely new line of Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks comprising 248 basic chassis models, ranging from 4,250 to 23,000 pounds gross vehicle weight, and up to 40,000 pounds gross train weight, was made today by L. E. VanNortwick, director of truck sales of the Dodge division Chrysler Corporation.

Some of the new models will be on display starting Wednesday, January 7, by the J. R. Rick Motor Company, of East Washington street.

A combination of massive strength and smoothly flowing lines is the keynote of styling. New ease of handling and driving is provided by the shorter wheelbase and wider-tread front axle, together with gross steering, a new feature on conventional cab models. Seat width has also been increased, braking systems are larger, and numerous engine improvements have been made.

Front axles have been moved back and engines have been moved forward to place more of the gross vehicle weight on the front axle and provide better weight distribution. The wheelbase for conventional models through the 2-ton has been reduced eight inches, while the 2½ and 3-ton models have been reduced six inches. The new trucks have been engineered so that despite the shorter wheelbases, the cab-to-axle dimensions remain practically unchanged, making it possible to use the same length bodies as before.

In the latter part of the 12th century, Hildegard Abbess of Rupertsberg, organized a school of nurses for service in the hospitals. From these beginnings grew the modern system of training nurses.

Boy Is Bitten
By 'Pet' Black
Widow Spider

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—(INS).—Eleven-year-old Edward Laidlaw Smith solemnly took the view today that he had merely made a "sacrifice to science" when he was bitten by one of his six Black Widow spiders.

In between spasms of pain the boy, who has been an insect-studying "amateur naturalist" since he was three, mumbled pleas from his hospital bed that the lives of his "pet" spiders be spared.

In the tradition of heroic scientists whose biographies he has read, Edward insisted that when he recovers he wants to continue feeding and observing the Black Widows as well as the other less dangerous insects in his collection.

Has Been Experimenting

For four months the lad has been experimenting with the spiders in his "laboratory"—a den in his San Francisco home. Two weeks ago he succeeded in mating two of the Black Widows and proudly displayed the eggs to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Smith.

Edward was feeding one of the mated spiders yesterday after removing it from a jar when suddenly the insect leaped and bit him on the tip of the middle finger of his left hand. Though the pain stung him immediately, the boy recaptured the spider and put it back in the jar. Then he called to his mother and said:

"I've been bitten by a Black Widow—but please don't kill them!"

Search For Serum

There followed a frantic and eventually successful two-hour search for an all purpose hyper-immune serum which was administered to prevent the one-in-a-thousand possibility that the bite would be fatal.

The boy was rushed to Stanford hospital where he was given additional drugs, including calcium gluconate, to ease the intensive pain and abdominal spasms caused by a Black Widow's bite.

Dr. Smith, president of the California Board of Health and professor of Public Health at Stanford Medical School, said his son had found the spider at a park four months ago. The doctor said he was aware of the danger, but explained that the boy had been handling insects for the past eight years. The father said:

"We were afraid that it would have broken Edward's heart if we killed the Black Widows. So we hesitated to allow the situation to continue, although we were apprehensive."

TO AID STORM VICTIMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Truman directed the Federal Works Agency to provide emergency aid to southern tornado victims.

He asked Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works administrator, to make available surplus personal property to state and local governments of Louisiana and Arkansas. He acted under a law providing for such aid in emergencies of that nature.

The Reconstruction Finance Corp. meanwhile authorized disaster loans to the tornado affected area in the two states.

Claims New Light Shed
On Exodus From Egypt

By W. P. SAPHIR
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAIRO, Jan. 6. — Discoveries throwing new light upon the exodus from Egypt of Moses and the Israelites were announced today by Wendell Phillips, leader of an archaeological expedition from the University of California.

Specifically, evidence shows that the Israelites did not cross what is known today as the Red sea but escaped from tyranny of the Pharaohs across a body of water farther to the north and known as "The Lake of Reeds."

Reports To King

Phillips announced his discoveries when he stopped off in Cairo to report to King Farouk, who is following the work of the expedition with keenest interest.

According to his announcement, many scholars believed that in Biblical times the Red sea extended much farther to the north than is the case today. This belief was based upon the itinerary outlined in Exodus.

This view, however, is said to have been disproved conclusively by the Phillips expedition, whose members include the eminent archaeologists Prof. W. F. Albright of Johns Hopkins university and Dr. Henry Field, former curator of the Field Museum in Chicago.

Tired, 'All-In'—
Listless Feeling
Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy Is Released
To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 555 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 555 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 555 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juices when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 555 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. 555 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

WPIAL Cage Warfare Starts Tonight

'Canes Meet Bridgers; Class "B" Fives Start

Red And Black Hopeful Of Starting Campaign With Initial Victory; Wampum Opens Defense Of Toga Against Princeton In Section 23.

The long and heated WPIAL basketball schedule, which will carry through February 24, begins tonight, with Duquesne in class "A" and Irwin in class "B" fighting to defend their laurels.

Locally, the action will center about Sections 2 and 23, with seven tilts offered in the opening blasts.

New Castle, with a 6-2 record in a rugged warm-up swing, invades Ambridge seeking its first triumph of the grid. The Douglass passers are taking on what appears to be the weakest quint in the loop, but past records mean little, and from now on it's every man for himself. The "Bridgers" suffered irreparable losses via graduation and are in the rebuilding stage but they will be nobody's push-over on their home boards, and the local mentors are expecting a ding-dong battle.

Lineup Set

Douglass will send a lineup of Don Spears, Don Black, Don Reed, Tony Cialella and Jimmy Janacone into the fray with valuable reserve aces in Wayne Gray, Gene Gribble, Don Piccirilli and Wayne Fullerton.

Reed, the classy sophomore center, derrickd from the Jayvees, is the only newcomer to the veteran array and gets the nod due to his sterling play in the last three encounters.

In other "A" pairings, Sharon's Tigers invade Ellwood City in what should be a hard-fought scrap. Both teams have shown well thus far and will be anxious to start.

FARRELL ROMPS OVER DUESNE

Farrell high's Steelers caused a lot of eyebrow lifting in Section 3 cage circles last night when they disposed of the favored Duquesne high five, 49-25, in a stunning upset. The ease with which the Tudor Lewis-coached lads toyed with the "Little Dukes" has stamped them as one of the top contenders for the crown.

Duquesne, conqueror of mighty Aliquippa, and opponent of Allentown in the state finals last season, was never in the game.

Pulaskis Play Youngstown Five

K. P. "Big Five" Faces Tough Ohio Foe This Evening, Cubs Play Prelim

Al Gonet and his K. Pulaski "Big Five" from Youngstown tonight at the K. P. Hall at 8:30 o'clock. At 7:30 o'clock the Pulaski Cubs battle the VAW-CIO Local 69, team of the Johnson Bronze.

The K. P. "Big Five" did not even have a good workout at the Arena court last Sunday, winning from the crippled Pittsburgh Colonials 81 to 29. But, tonight, they are facing one of the toughest teams in the Youngstown district, and may find the going rather rough.

Change in Policy

Gonet announced that all week-end games will be played at the K. P. floor, and the benefit game January 30th will be at the Union High floor with the Oil City Merchants for the Union Township Volunteer Fire Department.

Croton Quintet, Universal, St. George Winners

Take Church, C-I Games At 'Y' As Floor Action Resumes Again

Three good games were played at the YMCA floor last night with the first game going to Croton by pulling an upset over the Wampum team in a thriller 36-34. Croton 7 19 22 36 Wampum 9 14 25 34

High scorers—Nelson (Croton) 14, Procopio (Wampum) 11.

The second game on the card went to the Universal Pottery over the American Legion in a good game 26-21.

Universal Pottery 7 15 23 26 American Legion 5 7 11 21

High scorers—Jannacone (Universal) 10, Eroe (Am. Legion) 7.

The finals of the evening went to the St. George quintet in another upset over the First Baptist team by a score of 19-17, to be another thriller of the evening.

St. George 5 9 14 19 First Baptist 6 10 13 17

High scorers—Rainey (St. George) 8.

House League Resumes

Tonight at the YMCA floor two more games will be played in the House league. The first one beginning at 8:30 will find the Forest A. C. battling the Redskins, and the 7:30 game will have the Rebels playing the Safety 5.

PULASKI CUBS BOOKING

The K. Pulaski Cubs are anxious to book games with all strong local clubs, and games can be arranged by calling the K. P. Club at phone 9175 any evening 6 to 7 and asking for Coach "Peanuts" Hnat, or any of the players.

Willie Lewis Gives Views

New Angle On Louis-Walcott Bout

By BILL CORUM (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Belated though it is, here is one of the most interesting angles on the great debate between Joe Louis and Joe Walcott.

It comes from a fellow who, even flat on his back, is in a position to know and it would make it look as if both the sins and virtues of the teacher may live after him.

It would also make it look as though the ghost of Joe Gans, the Baltimore oyster shucker, who brought home the bacon once from Goldfield, Nev., might have some good advice for Joe Walcott between now and a night that is coming in June.

That's how the expression "bringing home the bacon" got started. I'm told, Gans wired his Ma back in Baltimore that he was, etc.

The late Jack Blackburn, who taught Louis to fight and who trained him until his death, was by way of being Mr. G's favorite fighter.

The letter before me is a bedside report from Willie Lewis as follows:

"Dear Bill—Here I am in Poly-clinic hospital recovering from an operation. Surely not the happiest way to spend the New Year, but better than not having it to spend."

It also gives me a chance to thank you for a swell mention you gave me some time ago and to unload on you a story out of the old days.

Directly Related

"It's a story that is directly related to the modern Joe Louis' habit of performing poorly in a first meeting with some opponent and like a world beater in the rematch."

"It dates back to the ring habits of Jack Blackburn, who also was a bit weak against fast right hands."

Jack took beatings from Gans, Sam Langford, Danny Duane, Harry Lenny and others because they were smart enough to fight him the right way. Against jabbers and left-hookers, Blackburn was just about unbeatable regardless of weight.

"But he did have that weakness against a right. Just as his famous pupil always had. Some of the criticisms that Jack Johnson made of Joe may have come from jealousy. But some of them were plainly true, as any experienced boxer could see, and this was one of them."

"Blackburn never knew how to get away from a right hand punch, especially a quick or sneak right. So perhaps it isn't any wonder that he couldn't teach Louis how. Or didn't."

"There was no secret about Blackburn's weakness among the fighters of his time. Any more than there has been any secret since his first fight with Schmeling that Louis could be tagged with a right."

Used Right-Handers

"When matched with Blackburn all the old timers trained and planned to try to beat him with right hands. Exactly what Walcott did in his training and planning for the Louis fight. Which was as well planned; as you know, as any fight in a long time and all but succeeded."

"I never fought Blackburn. I was matched with him in 1907 and trained for several weeks for the fight, only to have it called off when Jack hurt his arm."

"While the match still was on, I met up with Gans. He said he read that I was going to fight Blackburn and then he gave me some advice."

"He kept harping on that weakness against a quick right hand and told me that if I won that would have to be the way."

"Even though Jack is a very cute fighting man, and Gans said to me, 'he will leave that spot for the right unbuttoned.'"

"One more thing, he finally finished up, if you do beat him, don't go back. The first time is the best time with him. He smartens up between fights. That second time he troubles you. Yes, that second time he troubles you a lot."

"You get the point, Bill. What I mean is that old Jack's pupil, old or not, is apt to come back against

Joe Walcott.

Titans, Bethany Battle Thursday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 6.—It was neither a Merry Christmas or a Happy New Year for Westminster college's highly touted basketball Titans. The Blue and White suffered a trio of losses over the holiday period. St. Francis, Utah University and Miami University all soundly trounced the Titans.

The Titans will attempt to get back into their winning ways come Thursday night when they play host to John Knight's Bethany Bisons. Top job will be stopping the Bison's sophomore star, Jimmy Mewhirter, former Avalon high school star, and now a Bison forward. Mewhirter is one of the district's leading point makers, having tallied 89 points in five games.

The Bethany encounter begins a short home stay for the Titans. Waynesburg and Juniata will follow the Bisons into the Titan gym before the Westminsterites retire for semester exams.

PHILLY BOUT HANDS BOXING ANOTHER BLOW

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Boxing, which emerged from 1947 pretty well battered, appeared to be off on the wrong foot for 1948 today in Philadelphia.

The sport received another blot in an unpopular split decision which gave Italy's welterweight king Livio Minelli a slim victory over Chicago's flashy Johnny Bratton.

The verdict was greeted by lusty boos and chair smashing at Convention Hall by a crowd of 7422 which paid $24,122, and which also remembered that the odds suddenly switched from 11-10 on Bratton to 8-5 for Minelli at ringside.

The 20-year-old Chicagoan pounded Minelli at will during the opening rounds and took the sting out of his rallies with a 10-10 rounder. The rugged Italian, reeling in the seventh and eighth, stormed back for his best round in the ninth, while the 10th was even.

Dukes Extend Streak, Whip Geneva, 45-29

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The Dukes of Duquesne University had a record today of eight straight wins, but they probably aren't very proud of that eighth one—a 45-29 victory over little Geneva College of Beaver Falls.

It took them almost ten minutes in Pittsburgh's Gardens last night to get ahead of Geneva. And even when they did, the Dukes didn't look like the same team that dumped such hardwood stalwarts at Utah, Arizona, Yale, Brigham Young and others in running up their victory string.

The two teams played 10-minute quarters, instead of the usual 20-minute halves. It was just before the end of the first quarter that Duquesne went ahead, 7-6.

After that it was easy, but even then the game was a wild affair, with passes flying all over the court. Duquesne led at the half, 21-10, and at the end of the third period, 37-17.

Bill Cantenna, with nine points, paced the victors. Chuck Gugino and Lloyd Cable scored eight each to lead Geneva.

Two Games In League Monday

There were two city-county league games at the Arena Monday night, the East Brook Boosters taking the VFW team 34 to 32 and the Eagles Club whipping the Forest A. C. 48 to 35. The Elks-Shenango "Y" game was called off.

The Jefferson A. C. is promoting the bouts. The doors will open at 7:30 p. m. and the first bout will take place at 8:30 p. m.

Harrison Dillard, world premier hurdler, and Jesse Owens, Olympics immortal, are products of the same high school in Cleveland.

NEWS RAIDERS PLAY TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 p. m. New Castle News Raiders will play the New Castle Business college at the Armory floor. The game will begin at 7:30 sharp and the players are asked to be there on time.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Jesse (Topper) Underwood, Huntington, W. Va., lightweight, and Robert Earl, 1941 Chicago golden gloves winner fighting at 140 pounds, head-to-head six-bout card at Chicago's Coliseum annex.

Underwood meets Luther Burgess of Detroit in one eight-round match, while Earl battles Lester Felton, also of Detroit, in the other.

Bout Rated "Natural"

Elkins-Jeff Taper Off, Await Bell Wednesday

Only 24 hours remain until Elkins Brothers, knockout artist of New Castle matches brawn and punch against the speed and science of Jeff Clanton of Buffalo, in an eight round pro' bout in The Arena, Wednesday night.

Both heavyweights "knocked off" heavy training Monday, vent through light training today and will rest until they are summoned to the ring.

Elkins has proved the most sensational amateur fighter the city has produced in some time, and since turning pro has turned in half a dozen victories in Washington, D. C., and environs.

Clanton has boxed here only once, but his three-round technical kayo over Harold Hazlett stamped him as a cagey fighter with a sock, and one to be feared.

Science Versus Punch

Whether his speed and science can conquer Broth's brawn and punch remains a question that will not be answered until they actually come to blows on Wednesday night.

There will be four other battles on the card, as follows:

George Krestas, Mansfield, O., vs Julian Keene, Washington, D. C., 135 six rounds. Keene is a stablemate of Broth's.

Billy Malone, Pittsburgh, vs Babe Adams, East Liberty, 147, six rounds.

NFL May Choose 'Sudden Death' Over Extra Point

Change Will Be Recommended At Meeting; Would Eliminate Tie Games

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The National Football League may do away with the point after touchdown next season in favor of "sudden death" periods for games which are tied after four quarters.

Commissioner Bert Bell announced he would recommend the change to the league's annual series of meetings.

Luke Johnson, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears, is the author of the suggestion for eliminating the extra point. The "sudden death" period would enable teams to continue playing after a four quarter stalemate until one scored.

Other suggestions for rules changes include:

1. That all players be numbered according to their positions with the exception that older stars would retain the numbers they have worn for years.

2. An amendment to the clipping rule to enable a blocker going in the same direction with his head in advance of his opponent to contact the opponent from behind with any other part of his body. This would prevent the man from turning into the block and causing a penalty.

3. To permit use of an artificial tee.
4. That any player wearing a hard unyielding substance on any part of his equipment must have it properly padded for protection of others.

Assistance Board Members Retired

Lloyd Strayer And Mrs. Rose Fazzone Complete Six Years On Public Assistance Board

Serving faithfully for the past six years as members of the Lawrence county Department of Public Assistance Board, Lloyd Strayer and Mrs. Rose Fazzone of 426 Winter avenue and Mrs. Rose Fazzone of 409 Fairmont avenue, have been automatically retired, being ineligible for reappointment under the law.

Mr. Strayer, who has been serving as chairman of the board, and Mrs. Fazzone were appointed by the governor to their positions in the fall of 1940, each having now served two three-year terms. Their appointments expired on December 31.

Two new members to replace them will be announced by Governor James Duff at Harrisburg. In serving in his capacity as a member of the Lawrence County Assistance Board, Mr. Strayer stated that he gained a wealth of knowledge of the inner workings of the department at large. He feels that the jobs should be rotated so as to give local citizens a better understanding as to how the relief monies are distributed.

In Lawrence county and the other counties of Pennsylvania the boards are composed of seven members, with the exception of Allegheny and Philadelphia counties, where 11 members serve.

Beds To Remain Standard Size

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—People are getting taller and bedrooms smaller, but beds will remain the standard size for the present.

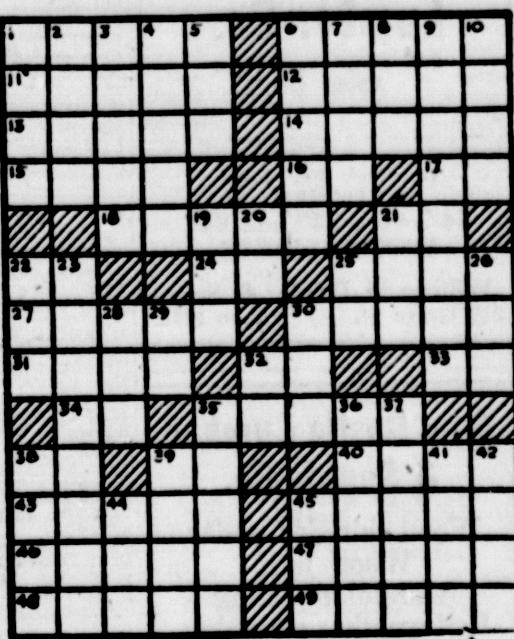

That was the word today from Paul Flanning, general manager of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers at the International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago.

As for tall people, well, they still can buy oversized beds to stretch their legs.

Duff Maintaining 'Hands Off' Policy

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—(INS)—A "hands off" attitude toward the Public Utility Commission was maintained today by Gov. James H. Duff.

Asked at his news conference if there was any administrative maneuver by which the PUC could reconsider its action in permitting the Pittsburgh Railways and Motor Coach Companies to increase fares prior to a hearing, Duff replied: "The Public Utility Commission is an independent agency and I can't tell it what to do."

The PUC allowed fare boosts to go into effect yesterday in Pittsburgh but scheduled a hearing "in the immediate future."

DULL SESSION OF STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(INS)—A rally in aviation manufacturing shares lent color to an otherwise dull stock market in the forenoon today.

First hour trading totaled only 190,000 shares. Most heavy industry and rail shares were irregularly lower.

Douglas Aircraft staged a second run-up, gaining two points. Consolidated Vultee and United Aircraft strengthened, advancing sizable fractions.

Chrysler, General Motors and Bethlehem Steel trailed fractionally. U. S. Steel recovered a minor opening loss.

Utilities followed a mixed trend. American Waterworks gaining, while Electric Power & Light was reactionary. Oils hovered near last night's finals.

Cotton futures were mixed. Bonds and curb shares were dull and mixed.

Little Assembly Begins Sessions

United Nations Launches
Major Attempt To Escape Veto Abuses

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 6.
—The United Nations launched its first major attempt to escape the abuse of the veto by inaugurating
Monday afternoon, the year-round
"Little Assembly" proposed originally by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall.

Thirty-seven nations were present when U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie called the session to order in the same chamber at Lake Success used by the key political and security committee
during the General Assembly.

Soviet Boycotts Sessions
The Soviet Union and her five satellites — Yugoslavia, Poland,
Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine and Belo-Russia—stuck fast to their announced boycott and failed to show up.

Another five or six nations can be counted on to appear later today or for the next session. The fifty-one countries in the non-Soviet group probably will participate in a body in the next several weeks.

Advance indications were that the "Little Assembly" would disregard the Soviet bloc boycott. It probably will proceed without delay to the appointment of subcommittees charged with the drafting of recommendations for eventual curtailment of the veto, for better efficiency of the U. N. as a whole and for the more streamlined handling by the General Assembly of problems concerning peace and security.

Strikes Keynote
Lie struck the keynote in his opening speech by earmarking this task as the primary one facing the new body. He said that the 1948 session of the General Assembly—to be held in Europe next September—is already so heavy in its agenda that its session is bound to be a lengthy one.

Lie continued:
"The General Assembly will be better enabled to carry out its political duties if we can, for example, define more precisely the methods of mediation and conciliation to be applied to the adjustment of disputes.

U. S. Representative Warren R.
Austin, without naming the Soviet bloc, expressed the hope that these absentees soon will realize the value of the "Little Assembly" and join in its work.

Canada then proposed that Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico be elected chairman. His nomination was seconded by Argentina and Iceland.

Three CIO Unions File Test Cases

Revive Portal To Portal Wage Issues Outlawed By Congressional Action

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—(INS)—
Three CIO unions Monday revived
the outlawed portal-to-portal wage issue by filing appeals in Federal court in Pittsburgh to dismissals of seven cases.

The union plans to test in the Circuit Court of Appeals the constitutionality of a congressional act which outlawed all such cases. The appeals are believed to be the first test of the act in the nation.

Over Quarter Billion
The seven cases embraced a total of $257,100,000 in portal pay and equal damage claims.

Of this amount, $253,800,000 involved claims filed originally by the CIO United Steelworkers; $3-000,000 by the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, and $300,000 by the CIO United Packing House Workers.

The USW suits included: Against Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., $180-
000,000; National Tube Co., $60-
000,000; Homestead Valve and Manufacturing Co., $800,000, and Sharon Steel Corp., $13,000,000.

UEW suits were against Westinghouse Airbrake Co., $2,000,000, and Union Switch and Signal Co., $1,000,000.

The UPHW was against Punxsutawney, Pa., Beef and Provision Co.
